Negotiations On Contract Continue As Phone Strike Is Off

Phone Strike Postponed In Eleventh Hour

Nation-Wide Tieup Fails To Develop; Parleys Continue

NEW YORK, April 26.—(INS)—A Federal mediator met separately early today with representatives of the Western Electric Company and 10,000 striking telephone installation men in an effort to remove the last threat to disruption of communication lines. Mediator Thomas Steutel planned a joint meeting for later today of the company representatives and Division Six of the CIO Communications Workers of America.

No Picket Lines
Ernest Weaver, division president, pledged that his men will not establish picket lines, which removed fears that the 240,000 other union members would refuse to report to work and cause a general strike.

The troubled telephone labor situation was considerably brighter today. Last night the union postponed a general walkout which had been set to start at 6 a.m. against the American Telephone and Telegraph System in 43 states.

It was the third strike postponement and mediators scheduled meetings with the various union divisions and company spokesmen today in a drive to achieve a contract settlement.

Twenty-five separate negotiations have been carried on but it was clear that the most critical involved the Long Lines Department employing 23,000 workers.

Formula Being Worked Out
Federal mediators have made a major concentration on the Long Lines talks in New York and it was reported that a formula being worked out with both sides would be applied to other bargaining sessions throughout the country.

Robert Crease, president of Division 10, said Long Lines officials and the union were in agreement on most issues and that "no strike issue remains to be settled unless there is a drastic change on the company's part."

Postponement of the general strike was announced in Washington. (Continued on Page Two)

Seattle Blast Injures Twelve
Apartment Building Scene Of Explosion
SEATTLE, April 26.—(INS)—Twelve persons were injured today, one critically, when an explosion rocked the Linnea apartment building in Seattle's exclusive Capitol Hill residential district.

The blast, believed to have originated in the boiler room, caved in portions of the first floor and damaged two wings of the U-shaped structure.

Ten of the injured were taken to Harborview Hospital, one to the Virginia Mason and another to the Group Health Hospital with minor injuries.

Hospital attendants said some of the injured suffered burns and other fractures when trapped in the wrecked building.

Many of the occupants were trapped in the debris and had to be extricated by firemen and police.

Police Capt. Richard Mahoney ordered the damaged apartment house evacuated when he detected the odor of leaking gas and feared persons would be overcome or that a second explosion might occur.

The blast was heard for a radius of several blocks.

Moscow May Be Asked To Halt Berlin Youth March

By JOHN A. REICHMANN (U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The United States may appeal to Moscow to halt the scheduled May 28 march of Communist youth on the western zone of Berlin.

It was suggested today that President Truman or Secretary of State Acheson make such an appeal in a widely publicized note to Soviet Premier Josef Stalin or foreign minister Andrei Vishinsky.

These suggestions have been based on the theory that if the May 28 march comes off and is met with tear gas, fire hoses and later bullets, the U. S. will be accused of having fired on German youth.

Proponents of the proposal for an open appeal contend that any bloodshed in Berlin would be used only to discredit the U. S. not only in Berlin but throughout Germany. They contend that the American note would place responsibility for provoking the incident.

Some Are Opposed
Some State Department advisors are opposed to the line of action although it is generally conceded that the Berlin incident, if it comes off, will be the crucial test in the cold war.

They argue that to charge the Russians with promoting the Berlin march will imply that the U. S. Britain and France are provoking the resistance to it.

This might be answered with the Communist charge that American "imperialism" will force the west Berlin police to resort to arms to oppose the German Communist move.

The Soviets might also charge that the U. S. is ready to use its own occupation forces to meet the invasion, the more cautious advisors contend.

Thus far the May 28 move is reportedly designed only to permit the east Berlin youths to hold a mass meeting in the western zone Sportsplatz. The anticipated size of the gathering, ranging into many thousands, has caused the greatest concern.

Airplane Part Found In Baltic

May Be Part Of Plane Shot Down

STOCKHOLM, April 26.—(INS)—The wheel and landing gear assembly from an airplane which was found by Swedish fishermen in the Baltic was prepared today for dispatch to United States Navy officials.

It is believed that the wheel, apparently pierced by bullets, possibly may be from the missing American naval plane which had 10 men aboard when it was lost April 8 after Russian fighters reportedly fired on it.

The Danish radio reported meanwhile that fishermen have picked up a rolled-up rubberized yellow suit off Langeland Island, on the Baltic coast south of Denmark.

State Highway Contract Let For City Bridge

New Span Across Neshannock To Be Started Soon

(BULLETIN)

HARRISBURG, April 26.—(INS)—New Castle Duntile Company was officially awarded the contract for the erection of an I-Beam bridge across the Neshannock creek, in New Castle. It was announced by the State Highway Department today. The Duntile bid of $230,083 was the lowest of several submitted by competing contractors.

Bids were requested in March for the work and on April 14 they were opened. At that time, it was announced that the New Castle firm was the unofficial low bidder on the job. After scrutiny by the highway department engineers, the contract was awarded today.

Will Be 218 Feet Long
The structure, which will be an I-Beam bridge, will have an overall length of 218 linear feet, requiring 492 linear feet of concrete cement base which will be covered with a bituminous surface. The bridge will be 42 feet in width.

The bridge, which will go over the Neshannock creek between South Jefferson street and South Croton avenue extension will form an important artery of traffic for spur route 422 in downtown New Castle. Heavy truck and vehicular traffic will be diverted from downtown New Castle.

No starting date for the work has been named by the Duntile Company.

Road At Rose Point Flooded During Night

Traffic Route 422 east of New Castle was inundated with 14 inches of water during the night when a small stream west of Rose Point overflowed its banks. Flagger of the state highway department were stationed on the road throughout the night to slow down traffic at the point, according to A. A. Martin, county highway superintendent.

Cause of the overflow was attributed to an improvised roadway constructed by the Holderman company workmen who are in the process of installing a base for the highway viaduct there. The rising water threatened to cut traffic off entirely for a time but subsided during the morning. Heavy rains brought the stream above its normal height.

No damage was done to the highway, but several pieces of equipment of the contractor were nearly covered with water. Operations were resumed this morning by the contractor.

I can sit back now for a minute or two, well maybe a week or so, the tomato seeds are planted at last and have nothing to do but grow. Red ones and yellow ones down in a box, with hopes for a future use, fried tomatoes, and stewed with corn and made into some good black earth and soaked them to start them growing, ahoy there summer and garden time when tomato winds will be blowing. But the seeds are planted I hope they grow, what more can a fellow say, er're waiting now for the crop to come, it's 62 today.

BRITAIN'S LABOR GOVERNMENT VICTORY TODAY

tax on trucks and other commercial vehicles.

In each case, the government won out by 304 votes to 299.

Only a few moments before the crucial votes came in the House of Commons, announcement was made that the Labor government had retained its slim six-seat majority through a by-election victory in West Dumbartonshire, Scotland.

The election was made necessary by the death of the Labor incumbent.

Churchill Undaunted
Former Prime Minister Winston Churchill, who forced the two votes as leader of the Conservative opposition, was undaunted to the end.

He led the opposition in a roaring "No" when the speaker of the House put the commercial vehicle sales tax increase up for approval.

Relieved cheering mingled with laughter came from the Socialist benches when the two votes had been recorded, leaving the Labor government in power for the present at least.

Remaining resolutions on the "report stage" of the budget were agreed upon without a vote and the government's finance bill was read to the house.

Parliamentary consensus now is that the government is safe in power until autumn at least.

The House was packed as the voting was cast. The public galleries were filled and a huge crowd unable to gain entry to the chamber itself milled around the lobby.

Every member of Parliament able to walk apparently was present, including Conservative F. A. Burden, who hobbled in on crutches.

GRENADE HURLER IS EXECUTED

In Muntinlupa prison, 35 miles south of Manila.

Guillen was pronounced dead at 4:05 p. m. (12:05 a. m. PST). The execution of the man who threw a grenade at the late president Roxas three years ago was delayed at the last minute when Guillen demanded and was given the right to make some changes in his will.

That followed cancellation of the doomed barber's scheduled prison marriage to his common-law wife, Josefa Eusebio.

inches in diameter. It was mounted with an American-made Firestone tire which bore the numbers 3500 and 7300.

The Swedes picked the wheel out of the water some 80 miles southeast of the Swedish island of Gotland.

This is southwest by some 50 to 75 miles, according to the coastline, from Soviet-held Latvia where the Russians admitted fighter planes fired on a four-engined U.S. plane.

Aviators who examined the wheel and its punctured tire at Gotland said that it might be the nose wheel from the missing American Navy privateer.

One Way To Help Your Family...

A good way to help your family over one of the roughest spots in life is to select a funeral director and make some suitable arrangements in advance.

The knowledge that this was your own choice and judgment would, in itself, be a help—and a safeguard.

The Boyd Home for Funerals invites such arrangements. In our experience they invariably have resulted in a service that gave satisfaction.

MR. BASEBALL

It is a heart-warming tribute the baseball world has been paying to 87-year-old Cornelius McGillicuddy. But then who can deny that the venerable and foxy Mr. Baseball doesn't deserve all and more of the bouquets that have been tossed his way?

The occasion for this is Connie Mack's fiftieth anniversary as pilot of the Philadelphia Athletics, of the American league. That isn't all. This season marks his sixty-sixth year of participation, in one way or another, in bigtime baseball. The amazing thing about all this is that Connie Mack continues to put into the game each year more than he gets out of it.

Congratulations have poured in from high places and low, and from all manner of people. He has been subjected to an immense amount of flattery, most of it wholly deserved. But the spindly, white-thatched old gentleman is taking it all in stride. He continues in the pose most characteristic of him: Seated in the A's dugout, blue eyes intently roving the infield, and fanning himself with a copy of the lineup.

SMALLER WHEAT CROP

The nation's wheat crop will be lower than yields in recent years. Recent rains in the wheat country have not been adequate and have come too late. So says A. W. Erickson, noted crop reporter of Minneapolis.

Erickson, after an on-the-spot inspection of conditions in the seven leading winter wheat states of Kansas, Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado and New Mexico, in which 33,000,000 acres were planted to wheat found that 20,000,000 acres checked, 13,000,000 acres are now a total loss.

Erickson found conditions the worst in 15 years. What looked in January like a fair crop has turned into a near fadeout, he added. He said it is too late now for rain to do any good in the hard hit areas. Green bugs, thriving under ideal drouth conditions, are now eating up the wheat on a vast scale, he found.

There will be no shortage of wheat as a result of curtailment of the 1950 crop, but the anticipated increase in wheat surplus as a result of the new harvest may not materialize. With foreign demand for American wheat, even on a give-away basis, practically nil, a short crop will be sufficient for domestic needs. But a marked decline in the income of farmers in the wheat country may have a deleterious effect on business conditions in many states.

NO HANDOUT WANTED

Since self-reliance is not too conspicuous a trait these days the University of Michigan rates a special salute for its refusal to accept government help in establishing a department for the study of atomic energy's peacetime uses. Especially to be commended is the statement by Dr. Ruthven, president of the university, that Michigan "aims to show that civilization can move quickly and more efficiently adapt itself to the atomic age through governmental control and direction."

This spirit of independence of government would be commendable under any circumstances. It is doubly so in this instance because the amount of money required by the university for the project is in excess of $6,500,000 and because the work to be done will be to the advantage and benefit of every citizen of the country.

So, instead of the federal handout which many institutions and more individuals would have sought, the university will raise the necessary funds from its alumni and friends. It is an example which should be more generally followed.

REDS HAVE TROUBLE AHEAD

When the Communist forces of China took over the government by the defeat of the Nationalists on the continent, they assumed an economic responsibility that is already giving them trouble.

Reports from various sources are to the effect that millions of Chinese are threatened with starvation, and the charge is made that the Reds are sending food supplies into Russia.

Even if the Communists did deceive the masses in China in promising national betterment in the defeat of the Nationalists, it is an added reason why they are partly responsible for conditions.

More than fifteen years of civil war have brought China to a new low in food resources and other needs, and it need not be surprising if millions die of starvation.

"Silence is golden"—but not when the quiz master is asking the $64,000 jackpot question.

Every time Harry Truman gets to talking a great many citizens sigh for the good old days of Silent Cal Coolidge.

The U. S., statistics show, uses up 35,000 tons of paper matches a day. And yet there still are some smokers always bumming a light!

Dr. Adenauer May Resign?

The possibility that West German Chancellor Dr. Konrad Adenauer's government may terminate its stormy career by mass resignation was discussed openly in Bonn. It may be a remote eventuality.

But the mere mention that Adenauer might step down and demand that the western allies take over the government of western Germany is surprising and may have some element of danger.

It is surprising because, despite a number of misadventures, Adenauer has won for western Germany a status comparative equality with the allies.

Strangely enough, Adenauer's hint of withdrawal came simultaneously with a highly encouraging report from Robert M. Hanes, chief of the ECA mission to Germany.

He said that western German economic recovery has been "almost phenomenal."

Hanes added that industrial and agricultural production in March reached a level comparable to the output of Hitlerite Germany in 1936. Despite bomb damage and other handicaps, production is increasing all down the line. And while Marshall plan aid is primarily responsible, Hanes paid lavish credit to the German people for "hard work," determination and faith in the future.

Latest Difficulty
Adenauer's latest difficulty with the western allies stems from their veto of a proposed amendment to the German Income Tax Law.

He accused the United States, British and French high commissioners of abusing the occupational statute and charged that their attitude is "psychologically dangerous" and is "provoking nationalism in Germany."

The income tax point at issue is "provoking nationalism in Germany."

The income tax point at issue is not a necessarily important one. Adenauer quite obviously believes, however, that this is a matter of purely domestic internal policy.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

DON'T "PURCHASE" PLAYMATES FOR CHILD

It is rather easy to see why a young child will try to purchase playmates, but a bit harder to see why a parent will put up the money for such investment. Yet some parents will do just this. Of some parents six and three, the mother writes: "My problem is over my six year old. She is a perfect child in all her health habits. But, Dr. Myers, she is so mean and nasty to other children that no one will play with her."

"She has every kind of toy, and I pass out fruit and cookies to the bagful, trying to entice the children into our yard or home. And in a few minutes she has them all cross at her and on their way home. They all want to play with the three year old but only till the eldest comes along. She bosses them and pushes them around."

Extra Mean
"She resents every child who seems to like me or little sister. She is extra mean to the children who walk along to Sunday school with us. When I discuss her with people who know us they all say I am partial to her, and she's plain jealous of the little sister or anyone who shows an interest in me."

Doctor, I do everything to assure her of my love for her. She comes into my bed every morning to be loved before the baby wakes up. I keep her up late at night to hold her and read to her. I kiss that child dozens of times a day and even rock her when she's been particularly unhappy. I do anything to make her happy, and yet she's only happy when I have her alone or when I take her alone for a day to town for lunch, shopping and a show."

Here's about the way I answered her. How hard you have tried to help that child! Your special efforts at showing her affection and at spending time with her alone and going with her alone down town are most commendable. These are among the very first measures I would have advised you to take.

Less Affection
That child is basically very selfish and her jealousy may not be for want of your affection and attention so much as from fear she might receive it relatively less abundantly. Here's a matter we psychologists have too often overlooked. Though this child needs your continued companionship and affection she also needs to have the gratification of her wishes limited. It is pretty apparent that you have been too ready to let her have what she wants just when she wants it. She has not learned to wait.

You seem to have emphasized material things rather than what she can do for herself. She needs to learn skills at making and doing things, which skills other children her age will admire and wish to share. Your enticing playmates to your home with fruit and cookies only makes her more selfish and less ready to be a good hostess. Why not use reading and telling of stories, or games you could supervise, instead? Too, the younger child needs to cultivate playmates of her own age and not count on this older child and her playmates for amusement. Related bulletins are: "To Learning To Be Sociable," "Your Child and His Playmates" and "Jealousy," may be had in a stamped envelope sent me at 235 East 45th street, New York, N. Y.

which has no bearing whatever on the principal objective of the high commission—to prevent Germany from ever becoming able to wage another war.

The chancellor has shown on several occasions that he resents what he terms ruthless interference in internal matters. He criticized the agreement by which France received a 50-year priority on Saar valley coal production on such grounds.

Adenauer took the disputed stand that the Saar is inherently German and that the resources of the region should be administered by Germans instead of being handled arbitrarily by the occupying powers.

Risked Displeasure
Only last week he risked extreme displeasure by ordering the old German national anthem "Deutschland, Deutschland" to be sung at a political rally. He expressed surprise over the furor he caused, but surely must have known it was inevitable.

The whole truth of the matter is that while the Germans may be progressing economically, they are able to make little or no political headway.

Praise given to their hard work for recovery encourages the Germans to believe that they have earned their way out of war guilt and should now be given absolute equality.

And the knowledge that credit given to western Germans does not apply to east Germans under communist domination is an upsetting factor and creates a problem for which there is no immediate apparent solution.

Seek To Avert Crisis
The allied high commissioners are expected to utilize every means at their disposal to avert a government crisis.

Their military leaders have completed plans to maintain quiet and order when the communist-led east German youth stages its much-publicized Whitsuntide parade on May 28.

It still is not clear just how far the east Germans plan to go on this occasion.

Original plans for attempted seizure of western Berlin appear to have gone by the board. But this has not brought about no relaxation in precautionary measures by the American, British and French armies.

It is a fact that hotheads and fanatics may violate the actual program and with this the precarious peace of Berlin.

All in all, Adenauer's clash with the west comes at a dangerous time. It is a foregone conclusion that nothing will be done to aggravate it.

Just Folks

WATCHER

I said I'd watch them through the day
The while their parents were away.
And, watch them anxiously I did
As down the bannister they slid.

I watched them racing room and hall,
Just missing tables when they'd fall.
I watched, and to divide them ran
The several times a fight began.

I watched them in and watched them out
I watched them throwing things about.
With beating heart and trembling knees
I even watched them climbing trees.

I said I'd watch them through the day.
And watch I did; but still I say
What most I watched for was to see
Their Pa and Ma relieving me.

His "Rules Of Health"

Primaries Start Next Week

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Next week, primary elections are being held in Florida and Alabama that will be watched as closely as the national election in the fall. The outcome can mean almost as much for 1952 as the result of the congressional contest in November.

The hottest primary is in Florida, where Senator Claude Pepper is in a fight for his political life. Opposing him is Congressman George A. Smathers of Florida's Fourth district. What gives this mortal combat a special filip of irony is that Smathers was once Pepper's protege and pupil of the special Pepper technique of spell-binding.

Now Exceeds Master
Reports from Florida indicate that the pupil now exceeds the master. Smathers is leaning heavily on charges he repeats in speeches day after day that Pepper is a Red and a friend of Communists. Observers hesitate to guess the outcome. The belief here is that Pepper's fate turns on the size of the Negro vote. If as many as 85,000 Negroes are registered and go to the polls, most of them, it is thought, will vote for Pepper and supply the margin essential to win.

There is an irony in this, too, inasmuch as Pepper has been trying hard to disclaim the Truman civil rights program which Smathers wants to tie around his neck. The Negro vote would presumably go to Pepper on his Fair Deal voting record.

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan
(By International News Service)

All senators working on the investigation of horse race betting will take a saliva test and certify "I am not now and never have been a horse player."

And they wish it understood that the committee will not answer telegrams reading "What's good in the fourth at Havre de Grace?"

Turns out that information on horse race wires was classified as a "top secret" . . . in many cases it seems to have been kept even from the horses.

But the bookies have no complaint . . . they're still investigating the last presidential race when the leading selection faltered at the starting gate.

And if this investigation doesn't set up enough heat from the continuing headlines probe we'll see what we can do by slugging steel.

The rule in Washington is "When in doubt, sue the aluminum company, investigate steel or runoff at the railroads."

Not So Spectacular

The campaign in Alabama is not so spectacular, but it is none the less important. Senator Lister Hill is expected to win easily over his opponent, a Birmingham real estate magnate named Lawrence McNell, a newcomer to politics.

The real struggle is over election of the state Democratic executive committee. Seventy-two members in all are to be elected. The Dixiecrat organization, with the backing of powerful financial interests both north and south, is seeking to control the committee.

Both Hill and Alabama's other Senator, John Sparkman, are campaigning hard to foil the Dixiecrats. Hill used the argument that, to defeat civil rights legislation, it is essential to stay in the Democratic party. Senator Robert C. Hendrickson (Republican) of New Jersey promptly picked this up and made excellent propaganda of it in challenging the Democrats on the sincerity of their desire to enact civil rights legislation.

If the Dixiecrats are defeated in Alabama, there are many who believe it will be a blow that will frustrate the organization generally in the south. On the other hand if they win, it will be the signal for a renewed organization to drive in every southern state. At stake are southern electors who in '52 might throw sufficient votes to a Republican to decide the election.

record and because he is less hostile to equal rights than his opponent.

Circulate Pamphlet

The campaign has moved into a brass knuckles and long knives phase exceptional even for the fervor of a southern political battle. The Smathers camp is circulating widely a pamphlet entitled "The Red Record of Senator Claude Pepper."

On the red, white and black cover is a news photograph of Pepper that makes him look like a cross between a startled alligator and patent medicine salesman. Spread across two pages is the reproduction of a photograph of Pepper with Paul Robeson, Negro singer who has been one of the chief advocates for the Communist party and Soviet Russia. Another photograph shows Henry Wallace with his arm around Pepper.

What gives this pamphlet special interest is the announcement on the title page that reads, "Compiled and Published by Lloyd C. Leemis, Attorney at Law, (Former Special Agent Federal Bureau of Investigation)." Pepper's backers in Florida are indignant at what they say is a clear implication that the FBI has a file on Pepper and these documents came out of the file.

No Such File

The FBI here says that no such file exists. Leemis went with the bureau in 1942, was assigned to the Miami office with headquarters in Jacksonville in 1943 and retired a year ago. The pamphlet points out that all the documents are a matter of public record. But the compilation was obviously done by someone thoroughly familiar with Pepper's record, since many of the photostats are from obscure and dreary left-wing publications that no ordinary person would know about or be able to locate.

Most of this record is from the years after the war when Pepper was in the presidential bug and was being courted by left-wing groups. These groups found that he could almost always be counted on for Madison Square Garden rallies where salvos of cheers and applause, carefully engineered, greeted the senator from Florida. Part of the record is the outgrowth of Pepper's wartime efforts for Russian war relief; efforts backed by a number of highly respectable citizens who could never be accused of being Red or pro-Communist.

Not So Spectacular

The campaign in Alabama is not so spectacular, but it is none the less important. Senator Lister Hill is expected to win easily over his opponent, a Birmingham real estate magnate named Lawrence McNell, a newcomer to politics.

The real struggle is over election of the state Democratic executive committee. Seventy-two members in all are to be elected. The Dixiecrat organization, with the backing of powerful financial interests both north and south, is seeking to control the committee.

Folks Of Fame

Pietro Mascagni was born in Leghorn, Italy, Sept. 7, 1863. He studied law but neglected these studies for music, taking secret lessons. A symphony by him was performed in 1879, and a kindly uncle helped him to study at the Milan Conservatoire. Chafing at the discipline, he joined an operative touring company. He leaped to fame in 1890 with his one-act opera, Cavalleria Rusticana, containing an ever popular intermezzo. His later work proved less successful and he died in Rome on Aug. 2, 1945.

What's In A Word?

(By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 26.—"I do not believe in democracy. I think it reeks." This forthright statement came out the other day in testimony before the House committee to investigate lobbying—and you might have expected the listening Congressmen to keel over in surprise or to summon the G-Men. But they didn't.

There they sat—three Democrats and three Republicans—because the witness, not a Commie but a $25,000-a-year businessman, was talking sound American history. He was Herbert U. Nelson, executive vice president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, and he added for the record: "Out in Wisconsin where I was born, we boys were baptised into the Lutheran church and the Republican party on the same day." This caused Congressman Clarence Brown, the Ohio Republican, to enter a quick but facetious disclaimer: "I want it understood that Mr. Nelson's political views will never become the platform of the Republican party." All the same, Mr. Nelson had a point to make and his testimony, taken from a private letter, made it very well.

Established As Republic

For Mr. Nelson was saying that the U. S. was established as a republic and was never intended to be a democracy, in the proper use of both terms. With him on the witness stand was a ghostly group of Founding Fathers to substantiate his statement. Reaching into the dusty records of the late 18th Century, we could find such depositions as:

John Adams: He described democracy as "the most ignoble, unjust and detestable form of government. . . . Democracy never lasts long. It soon wastes, exhausts and murders itself. There never was a democracy which did not commit suicide."

Fisher Ames: He likened democracy to death, saying that it is "only a dismal passport to a more dismal hereafter."

George Cabot: "I hold democracy in its natural operation to be the government of the worst."

Gouverneur Morris: "Give the votes to the people who have no property, and they will sell them to the rich."

But even these distinguished Revolutionary statesmen did not foresee where the gradual transition from a republican form of government would take us. To be sure, the transition is not complete. We still have the safeguards against total dictatorship by mass rule. The President and most of the Governors have veto power equal to two-thirds of the elected law-makers. The Supreme Court can nullify a law, even if unanimously passed by both houses of Congress and signed by the President.

Veto Power Becomes Perverted

But the veto power becomes perverted if Presidents use it to personal advantage instead of as an instrument of their sovereign office. This perverted use became more certain when Mr. Roosevelt broke the third term tradition. Every President is now a perpetual candidate for re-election. Thus Mr. Truman's most famous veto—that of the Taft-Hartley Act—was never intended to correct bad legislation but to cement in his own future with the Labor vote. Much the same is true in regard to the Supreme Court since 1937. Once Mr. Roosevelt began, and Mr. Truman continued, to pack the Court with their chosen supporters, the restraining power of the Court was surrendered.

Mr. Nelson, in brief, knew what he was talking about when he let fly at the much-misused term of democracy. He was just back from Britain where, as he said, he'd seen democracy in the form of socialism. He hadn't been to Russia where democracy has reached its ultimate perversion in proletarian dictatorship, based on the cheating economy of state socialism. The first human right to go is always the right to own property. Once that is taken by the state, the other rights—including all the personal liberties soon follow.

Most of the six listening Congressmen, it's safe to say, got Mr. Nelson's point. The slow slipping from a republic into a mass-rule democracy is to follow Britain, if not Russia, into total disaster. The trouble is that few Congressmen care to use the term democracy in its true meaning. It's become too good a catchword. And that's too bad for this republic which we hope to preserve.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Let me tell you a little story of a man who has traveled far and wide without ever getting more than fifty or a hundred miles away from his home in Pennsylvania.

It's a refreshing story, particularly in these days of hurly-burly and unrest, when everybody thinks he has to be on the go.

It proves that travel is not a matter of miles or of speed, but of observation, of thinking, of seeing not just with the eyes but with the mind and the soul.

Edwin L. McKinstry has just retired from his job as editor of the West Chester, Pa., Local News—a paper with which he has been connected for 57 years.

To you people in New York, in San Francisco, in Dayton, in Pittsburgh, in Lubbock, in Hollywood, in Charlotte, that item means very little.

So what? Another fellow has retired to his well-earned evening of leisure and contemplation. Happens every day, doesn't it? O.K.

But in West Chester, Pa., Mr. McKinstry's retirement was an event.

Mr. McKinstry is a West Chester institution. And when an institution closes its doors, that's news in a town like West Chester—or in any other town.

A few months ago, as I was driving through West Chester, I thought I'd drop in at the Local News office. They have published my column for several years, and I had met Henry Brinton, the managing editor, a few times in New York.

It was way after hours and the office was locked. But there was a light in the back, and I pounded at the door.

A man came to the door and unlocked it.

He was a white-haired gentleman, tall, erect, with a peculiarly wise twinkle in his eyes—eyes that apparently had seen much.

"What can I do for you?" he asked.

"I am Erich Brandeis," I said.

"I am Ed McKinstry," he said.

We went inside and Henry Brinton, still at work, joined us.

We talked and listened and laughed.

The most interesting one of us three was Ed McKinstry, 82 years old, who had seen the whole world right here in West Chester, right here from his office window, in the West Chester streets talking to the neighbors and listening to their shenanigans.

I doubt that there is a West Chester family whose every skeleton-in-the-closet Ed McKinstry doesn't know. And I am sure that West Chester has just about as many closet-skeletons per capita as any other city or town.

I doubt that there is a man, woman or child in West Chester, a town of about 14,000 who doesn't know and like Ed McKinstry and whom he doesn't know and like.

Ed McKinstry has never been to China or Japan, to Moscow or even to Los Angeles. But for 57 years he has traveled the world by way of the minds and hearts of his fellow townsmen.

And that is traveling! Because the minds and the hearts of people are the same the world over.

The Unseen Audience

BY H. T. WEBSTER

Elect Officers At Rose Avenue Parent-Teachers

Officers for the coming school year were elected at Tuesday evening's meeting of the Rose Avenue P.T.A. The new president is Mrs. Thomas Booher; first vice president, Mrs. Albert Jones; second vice president, Miss Laura Blucher; secretary, Mrs. William McKee; and treasurer, Mrs. Richard Clark. Delegates to City Council will be Mrs. Samuel Rashid and Miss Ellen Gallagher.

Mrs. Samuel Rashid opened the meeting with officers' reports given. Roll call was taken, with Miss Marie Melroy winning the picture for the intermediate grades, and Miss Mildred Smith for the primary.

Mrs. Findley Boyd, Miss Marie Melroy, and Wesley Mann were appointed as auditors. Funds from the auction and style show will be used for P.T.A. conferences and training schools, with fifty dollars to be used for new furnishings in the teachers' room of the school.

Highly informative reports were given by Miss Ellen Gallagher and Mrs. Richard Clark, who were among those who attended the South-west district Conference in Washington, Pa., last Saturday. The Gold Leaf attendance award has been given to the unit, and a letter of congratulations was read from Mrs. Kenyon Nicholl, president of the South-west district P.T.A.

Mrs. George Bender won a lovely bouquet of flowers for the evening's door prize. Group singing was then led by Mrs. Helen Boyd, with Miss Tillia at the piano.

Guest Speaker
Mrs. Wesley Mann then introduced the guest speaker for the evening, Dr. Joseph McClymonds, director of the fifth and sixth grade training teachers of Slippery Rock State Teachers' college. "What type of a child causes trouble?"

Dr. McClymonds, "There are eleven institutions in Pennsylvania that deal with delinquent boys, with an attendance of 2400 boys between 8 to 16 years of age." "In the case of boys, stealing heads the list of acts for which they are picked up and brought to probation headquarters. The second act, running away, is generally caused by the parent, but it may be the teacher. It shows that the child is afraid of something. Truancy and sexual deviation are third and fourth on the lists of acts committed by younger boys. It is to be remembered that these so-called minor offenses may lead to more serious crimes."

"In the case of girls, the number of offenses may not be as large as those for boys, but they are generally more serious. Those for girls include sexual offenses, running away, and stealing."

Continuing, Dr. McClymonds stated, "There are several factors which contribute to delinquency. Those of low intelligence are easily influenced by others to do wrong. Emotional instability may be due to a poor homelife, and ill health and poverty may be factors. It is not so much poverty of the pocketbook as it is poverty of the heart. Children need to be loved and cared for."

Causes Of Acts
"Broken homes, head injuries and brain damage, sensory defects and diseases are added causes of delinquency. Some defects won't bother a child, but if he is teased enough he will perform other acts to cover up his deficiency. In a self-contained class, a teacher can give more help to such children, and report to parents any problems which may arise. And above all, whether parent, teacher, or interested bystander, consider the child's feelings." Special guests of the evening were Mrs. Marjorie Nelson, assistant principal of senior high school, and Orlando Lucidore, president of Pollock Avenue P.T.A. Delicious refreshments were served from a prettily arranged buffet table. Hostesses were Mrs. Peters, Mrs. Price, Mrs. Paul Rowe, Miss Verlee Armstrong, Mrs. Staph, Mrs. Jaffet, Mrs. Navarra, Mrs. Thomas Reese, Mrs. William McKee, Mrs. Joseph Wright, and Mrs. Dean.

LICE CLASS
MT. PLEASANT, Mich.—(INS)—Central Michigan college students report their "louiest" class currently is entomology. They hunt lice, that is. Assistant Professor Richard O. Malcolmson set his class to live-trapping birds for their lice. Two new varieties of the insect have been found. Each bird trapped and set free had its own kind of lice.

Historical Medical Highlights No. 14

Life In Jars And Bottles

A GREAT, obvious medical fact exists today that is pretty much taken for granted. It is this: that doctors' services—and their pharmaceutical extension—are everywhere available quickly and conveniently. That's why it's a good thing that—historically—soda fountains evolved from carbonated water "perscriptions", and that merchandise lines were added to the apothecary's function. Without these things there would be many fewer drug stores . . . and greater difficulty in obtaining the services that are the basic reason for their existence.

Our profession is pharmacy . . . our business is serving your needs whether they be medical or incidental. And in every aspect, you'll find accuracy, cleanliness and fair dealing to be permanent.

East Brook Grange

Members of the East Brook grange had their regular meeting on Monday evening, in East Brook U. P. church, with Master Kenneth Kauffman in charge.

Plans are under way for commencing erection of a new hall as soon as weather permits. A number of members are planning to attend the seventh degree banquet at Epworth Methodist church on May 28.

William Reeher, member of the grange, won second place in the annual F.F.A. live stock judging contest, held at Mercer county farms on Saturday. He will be eligible to enter state contests to be held at State College, June 14 to 16.

Literary program was given by Lecturer Mrs. David DeSalvo, who introduced Miss Patricia Kelly, Lawrence County home economics representative, who gave an illustrated lecture emphasizing prevention of accidents in the home, which was very instructive.

A splendid lunch was served by hosts Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Ingham, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Jameson, Mrs. Jack Houston and Mrs. Margaret Houston.

Having sold the grange hall, future grange meetings will be held temporarily in East Brook U. P. church. At the next meeting, May 8, East Brook will entertain Plain Grove grange, when the latter will present, "Treasure Chest Program."

PITTSBURGH, April 28.—(INS)—Mayor David L. Lawrence today hailed a federal court decree that upheld the constitutionality of Pittsburgh's proposed $50,000,000 gateway center project.

Three federal judges rejected arguments, challenging the project, less than two hours after the hearing ended yesterday.

Mrs. Jayne L. Burt, half-owner of a building which will be razed to make room for the improvement plan, had sought an injunction against the city, the Urban Redevelopment Authority and the Equitable Life Assurance Society with the charge her constitutional rights will be violated.

Something To Sing About!

Many of us have fond memories of the days when Sweet Adeline and handlebar mustaches were all the rage. It's strange, but usually we remember only the pleasant things of the times and forget the drudgery and inconveniences that were so common.

Today, we take for granted the many comforts and advantages of modern living without much thought to the one great service that has made them possible—Electricity.

Everywhere, at work or at play, Reddy Kilowatt, your electrical servant, is on the job helping to make living easier and better. Old-fashioned methods of homemaking have almost disappeared, being replaced by labor and time-saving electrical appliances.

Yes, with Reddy's help, homemaking today is really "Something to Sing About".

Nobody wants to go back to old-time house cleaning methods but if you enjoy old-time singing you can hear the best at the "Parade of Quartets".

Fuel Lines, Fuel Pumps—Damage Gas Tanks

Photos show how water formed by moisture condensation in your gasoline tank causes rust and corrosion in your whole fuel system when you use ordinary gasoline. Steel rod at left is heavily rusted after prescribed laboratory test in ordinary gasoline containing small proportion of water, as does your gasoline tank. Compare rod at right after identical test in new Sinclair Gasoline. No rust here because Sinclair Gasolines contain RD-119,* new chemical ingredient that stops rust and corrosion.

Officials Hear Of Government

Expert On Municipal Affairs Lions Guest

City and county officials were guests of the New Castle Lions club at their noon luncheon club in The Castleton, Tuesday, when they heard an interesting talk by Dr. Harold Alderfer of the bureau of municipal affairs of the Department of Internal Affairs. Dr. Alderfer, an expert on municipal government, discussed a number of problems which confront local governments in Pennsylvania.

The meeting was the first annual event planned by the club to honor the elected city and county officials, to let them that they are interested in governmental affairs, particularly as President Sam Rashid stated in welcoming the guests, in a Christian democracy.

Dr. Alderfer was introduced by Dr. Wilbur E. Flannery, past president of the club and chairman of the community betterment committee.

Three Objectives

Dr. Alderfer stated that local government in the past war era has three objectives. First of these, he stated, is to provide the services necessary to modern communities, new traffic engineering, airports, housing, etc. Municipal officials must have imagination and willingness to grapple with these problems, or move backward. The second responsibility is to make the community attractive to industry and the new workers they bring into a community. The third is to keep local government strong, or they will be wiped out as rural governments have been in the last few decades.

In order to provide these things, three great problems must be solved, the speaker stated. The first of these is finance. Up to a few years ago, 70 per cent of all taxes raised came from real estate. This causes a great deal of dissatisfaction, Dr. Alderfer stated, because assessments are not equitable, and once fixed they are difficult to change. In some cases, in the state of Pennsylvania, no changes have been made since 1890. There are also limits on how many mills may be assessed against real estate. When attempts have been made to change assessments, which have been found to be too low, the citizens have risen up in revolt and refused to stand for it.

Must Change Assessments

However, Dr. Alderfer predicted that if assessments are not changed and made more equitable, the state is going to step in and do it within the next ten years. It would be much better if the home governments would do it before the state steps in.

In order to raise the money needed for governmental operations, other sources have been made available. A few years ago the state legislature passed an act enabling local governments to tax anything which the state does not tax. This was done primarily to aid cities of the third class, of which New Castle is one. Out of 3,600 local governments in the state, 1,000 have already assessed taxes on wages. The industrial communities were the ones which needed it most.

This was found necessary because of the problems imposed on metropolitan areas. For some time, people have been moving to the rural areas immediately adjoining the cities, but make use of all the facilities the city offers. The auto has made this possible. These people use the city's streets, fire protection, do business at the same banks and work in the same mills, but they pay no taxes to the municipal government. Citing the city of Johnstown, he pointed out that Johnstown, with a population of 60,000, is the center of a metropolitan area of 120,000. In this area, there were units of local government.

Most Pennsylvania communities are 100 years or more old, and are disintegrating at the core. Valuations are high, but the actual value has been going down.

New Castle, he pointed out, was one of six most favored third class cities in the state, but this is beginning to have the same problems that other areas have.

Need Advice

Municipalities need all the help they can get from technical advisers, municipal education, modern management practices and modern equipment. He cited the new city building here as one of the most simple and workable structures he has seen in some time.

In conclusion, he stated that business and local government, which are natural allies, must get together and not fight each other. They must not look to Harrisburg or Washington for assistance on these problems. This has nothing to do with party politics, he stated.

Unless the municipalities come to recognize their own problems and solve them, they are going to disintegrate, and local officers will in time become only the administrative agents of the state government.

This is going to cost money, he stated. After all, he said, money is only used, it is providing us with things we can use and enjoy. Municipalities are going to have to spend more money, and yet be as economical as possible. Not too much money is wasted by communities the size of New Castle, he pointed out, and if we do not support local government in the way we have been used to, we are going to lose it forever.

Special guests in addition to governmental officials were George L. Wolford of the Butler Lions club, Richard E. Rentz, past president of the Greater New Castle Association, and Jacob Wachtman, executive vice president of the GNCA.

PHILADELPHIA—(INS)—A Philadelphia eye surgeon says that child blindness is mainly hereditary. Dr. P. Robb McDonald, attending surgeon at Wills Eye Hospital, estimates that sixty-one percent of blind children have their defects because of their parents. Dr. McDonald suggests "a good way to lessen this incidence would be for mates to choose healthy partners."

Long Practice Hours Required By Symphony

Being a member of a symphony orchestra requires a lot more than sitting on stage for a three-hour concert, and listening to the applause that follows each number. During the past year, members of the New Castle symphony orchestra have spent more than 10 average work weeks each preparing and giving concerts.

Counting the weekly rehearsal time at Ben Franklin Junior High, the required home practice time, plus the concert hours, one finds that the average member of the orchestra has devoted 416 hours of his time to the orchestra. This would make 52 eight-hour days or more than 10 normal work weeks for the average individual.

Members of the orchestra are not paid any set scale and have received very little in way of remuneration to date for this extra effort.

This week, the New Castle Symphony association in conducting a drive for $10,000 in funds for the orchestra. The money raised in this campaign will be used to help defray automobile expenses and instrument maintenance expenses incurred by the orchestra members.

In addition the funds will be used to help finance the organization of a youth symphony and to add to the music library of the symphony.

A score of beneficiaries were named in the will presented for probate in Luzerne county court. Meanwhile, police sifted meagre evidence in a dogged search for clues to the aged woman's assailant.

LATE MARRIAGE

"I am in my forties with an opportunity to marry a kind and good man with whom I have much in common. His income is secure but not too large. I can and intend to keep after marriage. Several members of my family think I would be foolish to take this step at my age, especially since I am a successful career woman. What is your opinion?"

Answer: If you feel that this man can make you happy, take him. Even a successful career can not compensate for the loneliness endured by a single life. I cannot see that you have anything to lose especially since you will be able to combine marriage with a career.

There is a thrill about youthful marriage that cannot be recaptured by a mature bride and groom; but although they do not get the glamour and kick out of marriage that youngsters do, they likewise escape many of its pitfalls.

Mature people have more tolerance than youth and those who marry later in life are usually more adaptable for they have had their fling, their parties, their petty love affairs. They are ready to settle down and take the hardships along with the joy.

I do not mean that youth should wait until maturity to marry. Those who find their ideal mate early are lucky indeed. But older people marry for more substantial reasons. A man in his forties does not marry principally because the girl has a pretty face, nor does a woman of that age marry a man because of his prowess on the dance floor. Their settled characters and experienced judgment enable them to choose mates with substantial qualities they need for happiness and security; and, moreover, a woman in her forties is not in her dotage. She is not, if her health is normal, ready for the grave. She has the same need for companionship and comfort as the young—more so really, for her social tempo has slowed down and she has more idle evenings. If she can find a good man to her liking, she would do well, indeed, to share her remaining years

Triple Tie For Valedictory At Ellwood High

Valedictory honors in the graduating class of the Lincoln high school of Ellwood City will be divided this year among three students: Joseph Angelo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Angelo, Hazel avenue; Richard Durstine, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Durstine, Argonne boulevard, and David Jones, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Jones, Jr., Beatty street.

Principal Gerald M. Newton announced the unusual scholastic achievements of the trio, and stated that straight "A's" have been made by the boys from the ninth through the twelfth grades. Their courses of study have been the same, except that Jones studied Spanish, psychology and sociology while the others studied the French language and American government.

School authorities have decided to dispense with the titles of valedictorian and salutatorian for the commencement program of May 23, due to the triple tie for first honors. Each of the young men will deliver a farewell speech to his high school associates.

Health Wanted

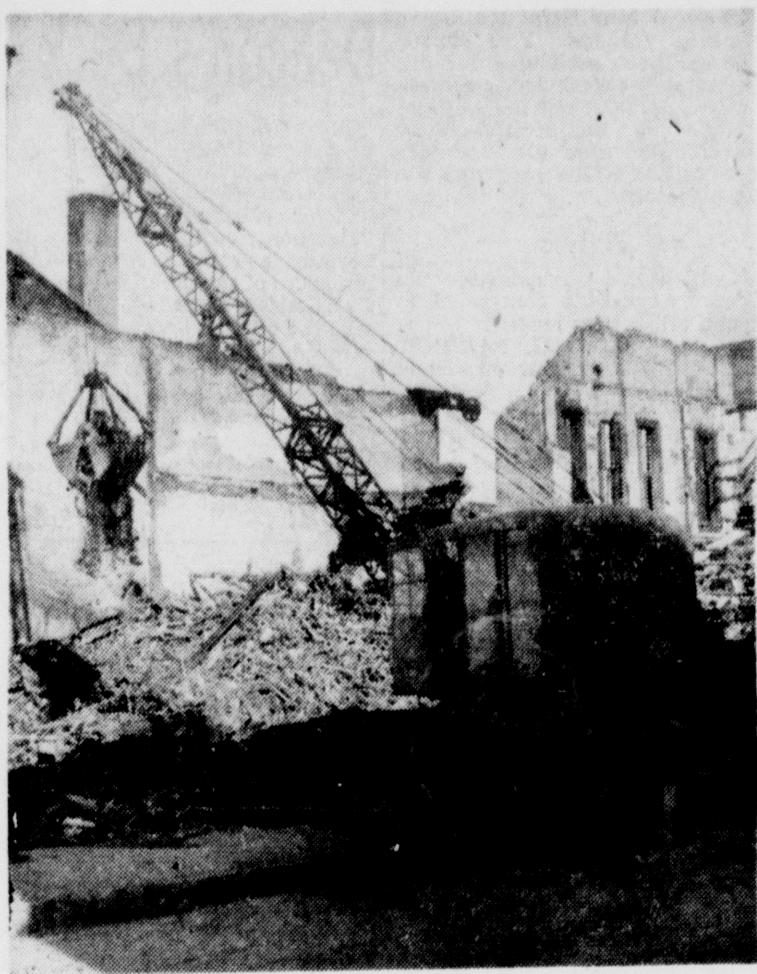

Liberal reward to anyone who can help restore lost health.

It is hopeless, alas, to seek health in the classified columns. It is a treasure far too precious to be bartered. If you have health, cling to it above all other possessions; if it has escaped you, seek now to regain it. Turn at once to a physician in whom you have confidence; then give him your fullest cooperation. And we hope, of course, that you will bring your physician's prescriptions to this Professional Pharmacy for conscientious compounding.

Cleaning of the debris left by the Clendenin block fire began yesterday afternoon when a huge crane and several trucks began to clear away the ruins. Photo above shows the huge crane in action this morning as work to a large scale got under way.

MT. JACKSON CLUB HEARS C. AUBEL

"Mt. Jackson Woman's club" officially became the name of the club when members met in the Mt. Jackson United Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening.

President, Mrs. Wylie Craig opened the meeting, with Mrs. Joe McKim accompanying at the piano while the group sang "America." Scripture was read by Mrs. Craig, followed with devotionals by Mrs. Willard George and Mrs. Wendell Bell.

Mrs. Martin Andrews, secretary gave a detailed report of the organization meeting and executive meeting, and also read the club's by-laws for group consideration.

An amusing reading by Mrs. D. J. Gibson thoroughly delighted the assembly. Mrs. Burleigh Craig program chairman of the evening introduced Clay Aubel of the Pennsylvania Power company. Mr. Aubel mentally transported the ladies by plane to the Hawaiian Islands by means of a motion picture. This proved of interest to the entire group.

The social committee, Mrs. Joe McKim, Mrs. Lee Gwin, Mrs. John Anderson, and Mrs. Carl Payden served dainty refreshments at the conclusion of the evening.

Might Penalize Public Officials

Propose Penalties For Refusing To Give Testimony

HARRISBURG, April 26.—(INS)—The Council of State Government has adopted a proposal which would penalize public officials for refusing to testify on matters pertaining to their duties. Although the problem has not affected Pennsylvania, the council intends to work for adoption of such legislation by the General Assembly for the salutary effect it could have upon public employees. The council, composed of the representatives of state and federal agencies, has proposed that any public official taking refuge behind the constitutional proviso that to testify would tend to incriminate would be prohibited from holding office for five years. "It is felt by many," reported the council, "that the passage by state legislatures of this bill or a similar one would result not only in expediting criminal investigations but also in attracting to office officials with a high standard of integrity and public duty." The council pointed out that the proposal would not outlaw the right to refuse testimony on the ground that it could prove incriminating but in doing so would be stripped for five years of the primary livelihood.

Deputy Attorney General Robert L. Kunzig's all-inclusive report on Pennsylvania's Relief Administration and the problem of chiseling will be the basis for remedial legislation to be recommended to the General Assembly in 1951 by the Joint State Government Commission. Kunzig pulled all the stops out in his investigation of the relief problem. He pointed out that chislers know more angles of cheating than they have been credited with knowing. "It must be kept in mind," he stated, "that a 'grapevine' exists amongst most people on relief. The wartime guardhouse lawyer was a babe in the woods compared with the present day relief crook." His investigation revealed, Kunzig said, that chislers "know only too well the slim possibilities of prosecution and the lenient sentences handed out by the judiciary."

U. S. Sen. Edward Martin is of the opinion that President Truman's forthcoming "non-political" swing around the nation probably will set the tenor of the 1950 congressional election speeches planned by the chief executive on behalf of Democrats. There is some question in Martin's mind as to the strategy to be used by Mr. Truman in view of the rejection by Democratic-controlled Congress of most of the national program proposed by the chief executive. Martin also took Democrats to task in a radio speech over the federal admissions controversy surrounding political rallies held by Republicans and Democrats. When Republicans held a Lincoln Day rally at Washington and sold box lunches for $1 they were forced to add 20 cents to cover the federal admission tax. However, he said, when Democrats met for a $100-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner the managers said the affair was free and the money was contributed by 5,000 faithful Democrats.

The National Coal association is laying the groundwork for quota restrictions or higher tariffs on fuel oil being imported into America from foreign fields. The association reported that imports run about 885,000 barrels a day and estimated them to be equivalent to about 115,000 tons of coal. In addition to posing a threat to coal economy, the association said, the oil import program costs taxpayers "enormous sums" of money. Inasmuch as Congress will fight a war of attrition during the important 1950 political campaign year, it is doubtful whether the association will fight for its program until after the 82nd Congress convenes next January. In the meantime, the association gloomily forecasts increased unemployment in coal fields as a direct result of oil imports.

MONUMENTS

Nations go to great expense to provide monuments for their honored dead. This is as it should be. These monuments are not for the benefit of the dead but of the living.

If we keep our citizens healthy and strong in body and mind it will help them to be worthy of a monument.

Pure water, good food, good schools, good churches, clean streets and good neighbors are a few of the things which help us to be worth while.

Everybody builds his own monument.

If the materials are not good the monuments will not last very long.

Isotope Business Booming

NEW YORK, April 26.—(INS)—The isotope business, the biggest peace time offshoot of atom-busting, is booming.

Dr. Paul C. Aebersold, chief of the isotope division of the atomic energy commission, was in town from home base, Oak Ridge, Tenn., the other day, and reported a land office business in the isotope field.

These by-products of nuclear energy are at work today in such diverse problems as battle-tale gray on the clothes line to the most delicate of operations on the human brain.

With equal aplomb, Dr. Aebersold wraps up and ships isotopes (radioactive atoms) to medical laboratories trying to pierce the mysteries of arteriosclerosis and to agricultural experiment stations studying fertilizers.

"But despite the many commercial uses of isotopes, the most dramatic uses are still in the medical and scientific field," said the doctor, 39, one of the nation's top atomic whizzes.

Dr. Aebersold belongs to the new or non-absent-minded type professor, with a gift for sharp dressing and figure skating.

At the moment, Dr. Aebersold believes one of the most dramatic medical employments of isotopes is that the medical school of Harvard University.

There radioactive phosphorus is being used to determine the exact location and extent of diseased tissues in brain operations.

Two hours before an operation for brain tumor, Dr. Aebersold explained, radioactive phosphorus is injected into the veins of the patient during that interim, the diseased portion of the brain will absorb from five to 150 times more phosphorus isotopes than the normal portion.

Once the operation begins, surgeons use a tiny geiger counter, about one-eighth inch in diameter, to probe delicately the folds of the brain. Wherever the geiger counter registers a high degree of radioactivity, they put a tiny slip of paper on the brain, indicating the degree of radioactivity and its extent.

"What the surgeons do before the actual operation begins," Dr. Aebersold explained, "is to map the brain for size and depth of the tumor, either malignant or benign."

Study Artery Hardening

The University of California is at work on a study of hardening of the arteries with the aid of isotopes from Oak Ridge. And hundreds of hospitals and laboratories are digging deeper and deeper into the mysteries of cancer with a variety of isotopes from Oak Ridge.

But if the medical and scientific uses of isotopes are the most dramatic, the commercial uses are at least as diverse. Radioactive calcium is now being used as a mundane "tracer" or detective in detergents to banish, if possible, the housewife's problem of tattletale grey in sheets and shirts.

Radioactive piston rings are also a part of Dr. Aebersold's stock in trade. Such a ring will oest the wear and tear on a motor through the deposit of infinitesimal traces of radioactive iron in motor oil, while also testing the quality of the oil.

Dr. Aebersold now manufactures and ships isotopes to universities, laboratories, hospitals and commercial firms in most of the 48 states. He also ships isotopes to 24 foreign countries for medical and scientific work. No shipments abroad are yet permitted for industrial purposes.

"We can make amounts of isotopes to satisfy the whole world," the doctor said. "The bottle neck is not in the amounts we can make but in people trained to use isotopes."

Since the isotope program was inaugurated less than four years it has constantly doubled and redoubled. The isotope catalogue put out by the AEC is not yet quite as large as Montgomery-Ward's. But it lists isotopes for almost every purpose and pocketbook, from radioactive iodine at 75-cents per millicurie to technetium at $58,800 per millicurie.

Literally hundreds of tagged or radioactive compounds are now available at Oak Ridge for medical experiments that "could keep the world's laboratories busy for a thousand years" and revolutionize man's knowledge of himself, in Dr. Aebersold's opinion.

Neighborhood House Report Shows Busy Period Experienced

Report of the Neighborhood House for the past few weeks, again reveals much activity at the South Side Institution. Misses Christine and Jean Butler are the welfare workers in charge. All classes met regularly during the period.

The sewing class has finished their stocking dolls. They are now working on their doll patch work quilts. The class closed each day with Bible verses repeated and a song service. The L.T.L. group are making their temperance scrap books, coloring temperance cards and learning the Bible alphabet as well as the poems on their temperance cards. Thirty one boys and girls have signed the triple pledge.

Citizenship Class
Members of the citizenship class are working faithfully on their study of English, with each class closing with the flag salute and prayer. J.A.C. club members are making new scrap books, using materials concerning their country pictures of statesmen and stories of their life to include in their books. Home evangelism club has finished the study books, the blood book, and are beginning a Bible Salvation A.B.C. Several of the workers of the class have been forming a short prayer time for the families and the work of the class.

The Bible school had the annual Easter program, with members of the school taking part. The money received in the March offering will be sent to the Begay Navajo Faith mission school. Bibles have been presented to two members of the school for required attendance. Boys club members have enjoyed a good time each Tuesday evening, under the Life Service Group of Westminster college. Work of the Neighborhood House was presented at a meeting of the Y.L.B. class of the Third U.P. church. A group of Neighborhood House girls showed what is being taught them.

MOTORS ON MILKERS NEED AMPLE VOLTAGE

If the electric motor on your milking machine has trouble in getting up to full speed at this time of year, the reason may be low voltage caused by inadequate wiring.

Many barn wiring installations were designed primarily for lighting. The addition of milk coolers, water heaters, etc., have seriously overloaded these installations. They may be dangerous fire hazards and wasteful of electricity, as well as giving poor equipment performance. An indication of low voltage is the sudden dimming of lights when motors are started.

SAVE STRAWBERRIES FROM SPITTLE BUGS

Kill those spittle bugs. They attack strawberries and if not controlled can reduce yields as much as 30 per cent. The small, yellow nymphs, about the size of a pin head, can be found around the crown of the plant in April. They can be detected by small patches of foamy-like spittle on the leaves and stems of the plants.

Those bugs injure the plants by sucking the juices from the plant. Some of these plant liquids pass through the insects and are transformed into spittle masses which enclose the growing nymphs. As the nymphs grow larger they turn to a greenish-yellow color. They usually complete their development during June and become mottled brown, wedge-shaped hoppers which are a little larger than a grain of wheat.

The adult spittle bugs are very common and can easily be noticed when they jump from the plants and weeds on which they have been resting. These adults lay eggs for another generation which will develop early the following spring.

Control—Mix 1 tablespoon of 50 per cent chlordane wettable powder in one gallon of water and thoroughly spray the strawberry plants just before they come into bloom. One gallon of spray will cover about 30 feet of row. For large plantings, use 2 pounds of 50 per cent chlordane to 100 gallons of water and apply about 200 gallons of spray per acre.

A 5 per cent chlordane dust can be substituted for the spray. Use about 40 to 50 pounds of dust per acre. On small strawberry beds, use about 4 ounces of the 5 per cent dust to each 30 to 50 feet of row.

This application of chlordane also aids in controlling the strawberry weevil and other insects attacking strawberries.

Electric operating revenues of the larger privately-owned utilities in the United States totaled $3,689,594,000.

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, April 26.—Ann Vernon was imported from France for some kissing scenes in a new movie—and Hollywood is still stunned by the workmanlike way she went about the business.

The petite Parisian's idea of a screen kiss deviates from the customary American technique. Mademoiselle Vernon, in fact, practically caused the metal on the camera to melt when she warmed up to her task of pitching woo with Brian Donlevy and Howard Duff, respectively.

Men and women on the set of "Shakedown" watched with mingled awe, admiration and even horror as then Director Joe Peveny finally managed to locate his voice long enough to holler "Cut!"

Who's Next?

The French stage and screen star was taken aside and carefully counseled in the limitations imposed by American censorship.

Mister Donlevy sat in a chair and nervously wiped his brow. Mister Duff, whose turn was next, stood on the sidelines, first on one foot and then on the other. The scene was attempted again. But only temporarily.

Miss Vernon (pronounced "Vair-noh") still instilled too much fervor into each and every osculation. Metal on the camera showed new signs of melting. So did members of the camera crew, who were not made of iron.

Director Peveny finally summoned Miss Peggy Dow who demonstrated to ardent Ann the accepted technique of kissing.

The show went on. Americans Are Walves. Later, the French filly was cornered in her Universal-International dressing room where she was receiving a new paint-job for the next scene.

She was asked:

"Do American men kiss differently than Frenchmen?"

"Non," she replied, still bewildered by the local limitations of movie love-making. "But see American, he acts different around women."

"See American is a wathchacallem—zee wolf. He wastes no time when he takes out a woman. Zee Frenchman, he at least talks to zee girl on zee first date."

"American men are spoiled. He conducts zee love affair like he ees hurrying to catch a bus."

"His attitude ees like that of a soldier—'Tomorrow I die!'"

Putting Children "On the Spot"

A rather straight-laced principal came into a fourth-grade room and found all the children sitting on the floor busily engaged in making a huge picture map. She was outraged and asked them in an accusing tone, "Don't you think it's wrong for fourth-graders to sit on the floor? Answer me, all of you!"

It doesn't take a genius to guess what the children answered. Though they really didn't see why they shouldn't have been working on the floor, they all meekly responded, "Yes, Miss C."

Sometimes, we parents, too, push our children into falsehood or hypocrisy. Finding a cherished object broken, we may angrily ask, "Did you do that?" Taken off guard and frightened by our tone, it's the easiest thing in the world for a child to deny his guilt even when it is very obvious. It would be much better to take for granted that he had done it and then work out together what should be done. No, it's not a good idea to put children "on the spot." Most of them are quite ready to face a problem in a direct and honest way, if there's any chance of being treated fairly. But the attacking, blaming approach usually will arouse the child's one method of defense—trying to lie himself out of it.

VACATIONIST CRIMINALLY ASSAULTED

—Arme Telephoto

NEW TRICKS

CIRCLEVILLE, Ohio.—(INS)—A patient master who knows his dogs says a sliding collar and repetition are the three things needed to teach an old dog new tricks. Ralph Wallace, president of the Pickaway county farmers' and sportsmen's club and an officer of the county's humane society, outlined the method to break down the adage that "you can't teach an old dog new tricks." Wallace said patience is the primary need for the dog's master. The sliding collar, he said, is not injurious to the dog but provides the "surprise" element which keeps the dog's attention. Wallace said repetition will make the dog remember—just so long as the commands are given one at a time and not in a series.

Fire Losses In Nation
Rose During March

Fire losses in the United States rose sharply during March totaling an estimated $72,468,000, which is the highest monthly loss since March, 1948, it was announced today by W. E. Mallaleu, general manager of the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

The March, 1950 loss was one of the three highest monthly fire totals recorded during the past 20 years. The other two high-loss months were March, 1947 with $72,435,000, and March, 1948 with a peak of $74,235,000.

The March total represented a 24.2 per cent increase over the February fire loss of $58,340,000, and a 7.8 per cent increase over the estimated loss of $67,218,000, for March, 1949.

For the 12 months ending March 31, 1950, losses are estimated at $669,599,000, a decrease, of .029 per cent from losses of $689,915,000, for the 12 months ending March 31, 1949.

These reported losses under fire insurance policies include an allowance for uninsured and unrecovered losses.

New Westinghouse
Automatic Dishwasher

The new Westinghouse Dishwasher opens from the front, yet loads from the top. This new design provides easy access to the dishwasher for loading and unloading, while retaining unbroken work surface above. It is completely automatic, first washing the dishes and then drying them in electrically heated, circulated air.

The new Westinghouse opens like a drawer and is completely automatic. It washes and dries dishes in 37 minutes, then shuts itself off. It has large capacity, and will wash and dry as many as 64 dishes and glasses and 40 pieces of silver at one time. Its large capacity and thorough washing action also permit the user to wash pots and pans at the same time as the dishes. The roll-out feature of the wash well and the design of the racks make loading simple and easy.

The new dishwasher is self-sealing so that no water escapes during the washing cycle. If the dishwasher is opened during the operation, it automatically shuts off, and no water sprays out.

The design of the Westinghouse also simplifies installation and makes it more inexpensive. It requires no separate drain, trap or vent, but is connected to existing hot water and sink drain pipes. A special fixture is provided for the sink drain connection.

Dealers Here For Conference

Seventy-Five Meet At The Castleton

Walking into The Castleton Hotel today is like walking back into the "good old days" when sodas were a nickel, women wore pompadours and automobiles looked like animated cracker boxes.

The lobby is filled with old time advertisements of automobiles, all a part of the display of the Esso Standard Company which is holding a sales conference.

From Four Counties

Present are dealers from Lawrence, Mercer, Butler and Armstrong counties, about 75 in all, here to meet with sales heads of the company. Heading the list of speakers is Walter E. Black, vice president of Esso Standard.

The program included a lunch at noon, a program with pictures this afternoon and a panel discussion of problems common to all dealers.

But the pay off is that display of advertising. It smacks of long ulsters and goggles, and those signs on the back of cars "Excuse My Dust."

Chapter Of Youth Postpones Meeting

Members of the Chapter of Youth have postponed this evening's meeting until Sunday afternoon, April 30, at 3 p.m.

Coal Tipple Is Fire Damaged

Shenango Township Volunteer Fire Department was called at 7:30 o'clock this morning to the Butler road near Big Run where they found a fire in the coal tipple of the former Platt and Craig Coal Company.

The fire had done about $350 damage before firemen could extinguish it. Cause was attributed to an oil stove which blew up. The fire was at the scene of a disastrous fire at the same location some months ago.

Triple Tragedy In Nebraska College Town

PERU, Neb., April 26—This small college community was recovering today from the triple-tragedy that snuffed out the lives of a college president, a member of the faculty, and the gun-wielding quiet reserved psychology professor who committed suicide.

The quiet of Peru State Teachers college was broken yesterday as Dr. B. K. Baker, slated for discharge by the college, entered the office of President Dr. William L. Nicholas, and began firing at Nicholas and Dr. Paul A. Maxwell, head of the school's department of education. Each man was shot three times in the head and shoulder.

Dr. Baker was found dead in his home a short time later of a bullet wound in the head.

Nebraska officials re-constructing the crime have agreed that it was a case of premeditated murder and suicide, caused no doubt over the firing of Dr. Baker, who is alleged to have left a note found after the shooting saying "You have fired the wrong man."

Dr. Maxwell was a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh in Pennsylvania.

TREE SAFETY

EUGENE, Ore.—(INS)—A small windswept tree standing alone at the brink of a 100-foot precipice recently saved the lives of four Eugene residents. A coupe driven by Ray Swinney missed a curve on the road above the main highway and would have plunged over except for the tree. The car was balanced precariously but all four passengers escaped uninjured.

Ladies Guests Of Kiwanians

Annual Dinner Party At Westfield Hall

New Castle Kiwanis Club was host to the ladies at the annual dinner party, which was held at Westfield Grange Hall, Tuesday evening, a most enjoyable evening being spent.

After a fine dinner, in which ham was the piece de resistance, cooked and served as only the ladies of Westfield Grange know how, a musical program was enjoyed. Group singing during the evening was led by George Peacock, with Ernel E. Branstetter at the piano.

Highlights of musical comedy was the theme of the program, which was presented by a group of talented young artists directed by Delbert Fletcher. The members which the group sang were cleverly announced by signs painted by Mrs. Delbert Fletcher, and handled by Misses Betty Lepisco and Maxine Mantz.

The cast included Lena Mae McConnell and Dorothy Perdue, sopranos; Connie Branstetter and Mrs. Madeleine Rinehart, altos; Walter Lukert and Earl Wiley, tenors; and Harry Spence and Delbert Fletcher, basses.

Around sixty were present for the evening's program, which was presided over by President Alfred H. Mellor.

As of Jan. 1, 1949, there were 38,205,000 privately-owned telephones in the United States.

Candidate For State Assembly

Harry C. Davis Seeks Nomination In First District

HARRY C. DAVIS

My Friend and Fellow Citizens of New Castle:

I put myself before you as a candidate for Representative to the General Assembly, subject to the Republican Primaries on May 16 of this year.

I am a lifelong citizen of the city of New Castle, the son of Chauncey and Henrietta Davis; also lifelong, well respected citizens of New Castle. I was educated in the New Castle schools and entered the service with New Castle boys. I am 30 years old; reside at 716 Blaine street, and a member of the First Christian church. Perhaps, as any man, I am proud of my heritage and certainly as proud of my city and county.

Having organized and taken part in the meetings of the Lawrence County Voting League, I believe I am well aware of the many problems confronting you as citizens of this city and county. Many of these problems can be eliminated or eased by the vote and actions of your Representative in Harrisburg. Many of the laws and acts that control your present and future, your judiciary system, your ever-growing burden of taxation, originate and are voted upon by your Representative in the General Assembly.

It is the duty of the successful candidate, "Your Representative," to carry your views and to present your vote in the way of your majority impartially and uncontrolled in the session of the General Assembly.

If nominated and elected by the citizens of this, the First District of Lawrence County, I shall present your views and your vote to the General Assembly. No machine, group or faction, and no individual shall control it. No doubt at some time during this campaign the question of being or not being a veteran will arise, and I think you will agree with me in that. I do not believe that being a veteran is, in itself, a qualification for public office, but it is a mark of distinction, of honor and depicts an invaluable trait of character that shall always be engraved in the hearts of his fellowmen, and the proud history of this state and Nation.

For the record, my wife and myself are both veterans. I served as a private through the tanks and was discharged as a captain of the 33rd Infantry Division, serving thirty months overseas, and as a guerilla leader in the Philippine Islands. At the present I am employed as Senior Examiner with the World War II Veterans' Compensation Bureau, Department of Military Affairs.

I believe I can truly represent the people of New Castle because I am not backed in this campaign by any political machine, but rather, morally by you, my friends, if it be your wish to grant me the privilege of representing you in the General Assembly. I humbly ask divine guidance that my every effort shall benefit you and YOURS.

First U.P. Men Enjoy Banquet

Westminster Athletic Director Is Speaker

One hundred eighty-five fathers and sons assembled at First U. P. church Tuesday evening for the first Fathers and Sons banquet sponsored by the newly organized Men's club of the church. The men heard an address by Grover C. Washburn, athletic director at Westminster college, who challenged the dads to be more loyal to their sons and the sons to be better sportsmen.

The outstanding program started off with a period of fellowship singing with David W. Rees and Leonard Kisthart interspersing with vocal selections, which were well received. Wayne Guillery presided at the piano.

The toast to the dads was made by Dal Matthews, with B. French Johnson responding for the sons.

During the brief business meeting the president, John Mikels introduced the following committee: contact, Charles Backwith, Ed Miller; program, Harvey Bush, Harry Sanders; service, Lauri Laur-ell, Robert Galbreath; athletics, William Schmidt, Ralph Cooper; activities, Tom Hartman.

Former Judge James A. Chambers, in introducing the speaker, stated that the year he entered Westminster in 1896 basketball became a part of the athletic program of the school. In a humorous and entertaining manner, the Titan Mentor told what he considered the essential characteristics of every athlete. Turning to a more serious vein, he stated that the problem of juvenile delinquency can be eliminated if the fathers would spend more time with their sons.

President Mikels announced that the next meeting would be May 23 when Ladies Night would be observed. The dinner was served by the Church Ladies Aid, Unit One, with Mrs. Wilma Belknap and Mrs. Eleanor Bolland in charge.

Y-Teens Day Will Be Friday

Y-Teen Day of National YWCA Week will be observed by clubs in their schools Friday, April 28.

Y-Teens have their own part in National YWCA Week, currently being observed by the local association. To publicize Y-Teens in their schools, this Friday clubs will be a little "apple-polishing" by presenting to their women teachers shiny red apples in honor of the day. They will also wear Y-Teen symbols and display a catchy poster correlating features of the club program with the theme of the week, "A Better World Begins with You."

Y-Teens have a part also in the "open house" and program by the entire association Thursday evening.

Quartets Will Show Ability

Barber Shop Quartets
To Sing Saturday

There'll be music in the air Saturday night, April 29.

Nothing from Beethoven or Brahms but lots of old fashioned barber shop quartet singing that was popular "When You and I Were Young Maggie".

The New Castle chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America will hold its second annual Parade of Quartets in the Cathedral and the night will be filled with music.

Eight Quartets

Eight quartets will be upon the program, including one from New Castle. Others will come from Toledo, Detroit, Grand Rapids, Pittsburgh and other points. The "Harmony Halls", championship team of Grand Rapids, will be present.

In addition to all the quartets the United Chorus, directed by Dy

Jones, will be on hand to add some choral effects that will have you beating time with your feet.

Remember those old barber shop melodies? "On A Chinese Honey-moon", "I Want A Girl", "If I Had My Way Dear", these and a hundred others will be on the program. Melodious, harmonic, the kind that give the basses an opportunity to roll, and the tenors to soar.

Tickets are going fast for the musical treat but there are still some good seats left.

May Day Plans At Senior High

New Castle senior high school will observe its annual May Day program Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the school auditorium.

Last year's queen, Betty Stafford, will crown the new ruling queen, Melva Black, in the coronation ceremony.

The queen is selected each year from the junior class. Home room representatives make the nominations and the class votes on the selections. The nominees form the queen's court.

Gentlemen: On behalf of my family and myself, I wish to extend my heart-felt thanks to the men of the Union Township Volunteer Fire Department who, during our tragic fire, worked so faithfully and so valiantly to save our home and prevented us from further loss by keeping the fire under control, thus preventing it from spreading to our greenhouse and adjacent property.

Sincerely yours,

Circus Here Next Tuesday

Firemen's Relief Fund To Benefit From Exhibitions

Selected international stars from 18 nations will join forces with IAAF No. 160 to make May 2, when the IAAF No. 160 three ring circus comes to New Castle, a memorable day.

The local organization is raising money for its paid firemen's relief fund by bringing a major organized traveling circus, the mid-century edition of Mills Bros. three ring circus, menagerie and horse show to the new municipal circus grounds for afternoon and evening showings under the big top.

From the new bellowing tents to performance headliners, the world's largest motorized circus, celebrating its 11th annual tour, is a new and enlarged show this year. It features the largest assemblage of imported English, European and Asiatic circus champions along with American spanglied favorites in its history.

IAAF No. 160 members have advance tickets, from which comes the heaviest proceeds on sale now at all fire houses. As a special treat, in cooperation with numerous local "Circus Daddies", the local group will bring needy kiddies from throughout the area to the matinee performance as guests.

ALWAYS ON THE LEVEL?

Not all roads are boulevards, and not every street can always be level as a ballroom floor.

But if you think, sir, that there's nothing you can do about it—are you game to make a test that may prove you wrong?

All we want you to do is sample a Buick ride.

We want you to sit in this broad seat and aim your gun-sight ornament at the roughest stretch of road you know.

We want you to see how soft coil springs all around, not on front wheels alone, soak up those jars and jolts, fairly float you over cobbles, railroad crossings and weather-pocked macadam.

We want you to try the back seat—and see how free of toss and throw it is, how soft, low-pressure tires on wide Safety-Ride rims cut down the sway and swerve on sudden curves.

Feel, please, the steadiness of this car under you as Buick's stout torque-tube takes rear wheel wiggle-waggle out of your going.

Note the quick, firm snub of Buick shock absorbers, the absence of engine vibration, the sensation of soaring over roads on which your wheels never lose their sure-footed grip, the special liquid smoothness of Dynaflo Drive.*

Particularly if you've been driving a car that seems patterned to move ahead by leaps and bounds, we want you to experience a Buick ride for comparison's sake.

Senators And Oil City Contest Is Rained Out

(Special To The News)
GREENCASTLE, Pa., April 26.—Rain and cold weather at Frederick, Md., yesterday caused the postponement of the scheduled New Castle Senators and Oil City Refiners exhibition game.

The teams will play an exhibition game today at Greencastle, it was announced providing the field dries up.

Trip In Vain
President Al Scarazzo of the New Castle club made a trip to this city yesterday to talk over the working agreement with the Washington Senators, but Ossie Bluege, the farm director failed to show up, probably due to severe rain storms in the Washington area.

Bluege had promised to be in Frederick yesterday for the game, to confer with Scarazzo and Attorney Frank Moretti, business manager.

Same Lineup Prevails
Manager Cronin has announced that the same starting lineup he intended to use yesterday will be used today. Frank Wagner, Herb Churchill and Dick Jancone will be the fingers today, for three innings each.

Thursday the New Castle team will play Mercersburg Academy at the Greencastle field.

A short workout was staged yesterday here despite the inclement weather and the team looked very impressive as President Scarazzo looked on.

Break Camp Sunday
The New Castle team will break camp Sunday and hold a first workout at Flaherty Memorial Field Monday. Only a few of the boys have seen the magnificent playing field that Carl "Buffalo" Cialella the veteran groundskeeper has in shape for them.

Manager Cronin is getting ready to top off about 10 players and cut down to 25 for the Homestead Grays game next Tuesday.

Weather Hits Spring Sports

Rain, rain and more rain, plus low temperatures have raised havoc with all spring sport schedules for Lawrence county schools.

The county school baseball league is about two weeks behind already and will start scheduling double headers in order to catch up if the weather man comes through with a break.

Track, golf and tennis at all institutions have been set back regularly. The Westminster golf team has already had three matches postponed but hopes to get into action today against West Virginia university at Morgantown.

The tennis team will also be making its first start at Morgantown.

Yesterday a baseball game and a tennis match with Slippery Rock were postponed by Westminster.

New Castle High golf team sees action today in a league match with Butler at Castle Hills.

County high school baseball coaches also plan to have a busy day on the diamond but at noon today had not yet decided who was to play who.

Church Bowling Banquet May 4

Al Ellis, president of the New Castle church duxpin bowling league today announced that the banquet scheduled for Thursday April 27th at the New Castle Country Club, has been postponed until Thursday, May 4. The starting time is 6:30 o'clock. All members of the league are asked to take notice of the change in dates.

Bucs Meet Cards Thursday Night

PITTSBURGH, April 26.—(INS)—Rain forced postponement of last night's Chicago-Pittsburgh game at Forbes Field.

The Bucs are not scheduled to play until tomorrow night at St. Louis. They will play St. Louis tomorrow in a night game at Forbes Field. Murry Dickson will pitch for Pittsburgh.

Hatten Hurls Two-Hitter, Dodgers Win

Grays To Test Senators May 2

Opening Game Here Drawing Nearer

The New Castle Senators of the Mid-Atlantic league in training at Greencastle, are just as anxious to defeat the Homestead Grays as they are anybody on the 1950 schedule.

Talk among the players mostly concerns the Grays game and "We hope to beat them" is the way the boys put it.

New Castle fans will get their first glimpse of the 1950 edition of Senators at Flaherty Memorial Field next Tuesday, May 2, at 8 o'clock.

Both Young Clubs
S. H. Posey, the Grays business manager says that the Grays this year are a strong club and have looked very good in spring workouts, though the south. "We have a young team this year," Posey said.

The Senators will also field a young club this season with Ackerman 20, Eikenberg 21, Dondero 20, Mouton 21, Sutch 27, Bilo 19, Kiel 26, Schindler 20, and Duntzman 20.

There will not be any advance sale for the Grays game, it was announced. The tickets are $1.00 for adults and 25 cents for children up to 12.

Meeting Thursday
Advance tickets are being sold for the opening game on Friday May 5 with Vandergrift, at $1.00 for everybody.

The Citizens Baseball Inc., has had 5,000 tickets printed for the opening game of the Mid-Atlantic league.

There will be a Board of Directors meeting at the office of President Al Scarazzo, Thursday night at 9 o'clock, to push the sale of opening day tickets.

By HOWARD SIGMAND
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, April 26.—A hungry-looking pitcher named Joe Hatten, who works now and then for the Brooklyn Dodgers, was the visible proof today that things kept in an icebox can retain their heat.

Let's Joe, Brooklyn's hottest spring pitcher, had been kept "on ice" for the first week of the season. Hatten was finally unveiled yesterday and the 32-year-old southpaw virtually sizzled as he blanked the Boston Braves, 3 to 0 on a masterful two-hitter.

Five Wins In Row
It was easily the best job done by a Brooklyn pitcher to date and it stretched the National League champions' victory skein to five straight.

Hatten gave up a single to Bob Elliott in the second inning and then retired 23 Bostonians in a row before Sam Jethroe singled for the second hit with two gone in the ninth. Hatten gave up only one walk and faced a total of 30 men.

Giants Break Ice
Leo Durocher's "kind of" New York Giants won their first game in five starts, 8 to 4 over the Philadelphia Phillies. Larry Jansen, the best of Leo's uncertain pitching staff, held the Phillies to eight hits to chalk up his first win.

The Giants jumped to a 6 to 1 lead in the first four innings, aided by three Philadelphia errors and circuit clouts by Jack Harshman, his second, and Alvin Dark, his first.

Dick Sisler's three-run homer in the sixth was the Phillies' last offensive burst of the game.

Bucs Rained Out
The only other game on the National League card, a night contest between the Cubs and the Pirates, was rained out.

Vic Raschi, the New York Yankees' Springfield rifle, staggered to his first triumph of 1950. The big right-hander got into more trouble than a juvenile delinquent as he beat the Philadelphia Athletics, 6 to 3.

Raschi gave up ten hits and walked seven men, but managed to become the first Yankee pitcher to go the route this year. The Bombers tagged starter Lou Brissie for 13 hits, including five doubles. Little Phil Rizzuto was the batting star with three singles, a double and a walk for a perfect day.

Tommy Henrich twisted his trick knee in batting practice and was sidelined.

Tigers Top Browns
The Detroit Tigers made it five out of six by topping the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 2 in a night game. Virgil Trucks won his second game for the Bengals although he needed help from Art Houtteman in the ninth. Gerry Priddy hit a two-run four-bagger and Johnny Groth smashed one with the bases empty for Red Rolfe's crew.

Trucks' one-hit shutout bid was spoiled in the eighth inning when Hank Arlt pinch hit a homer. Dick Kokos led off the ninth inning for the Browns with a roundtripper, but it was all too straight to prevent their fourth straight loss.

The Boston-Washington and Cleveland-Chicago games were postponed.

Canes Take Track Win

New Castle high opened its 1950 track season Tuesday afternoon with a victory over Ambridge and Aliquippa at Ambridge.

The Canes thinedlads scored 49 1/2 points. Ambridge had 43, and Aliquippa made 24 1/2.

Poor track conditions slowed the performances of many of the athletes and a downpour forced cancellation of the 220-yard run and the discus event.

Mile run—Boyle, NC, and Snodgrass, Ambridge; Gros, Ambridge; Goodrich, NC. Time, 4:58.

100-yard dash—Wynn, NC; Litvitski, Ambridge; Tipper, Aliquippa; Hemer, NC. Time, 10.6 seconds.

Blears Employs Kangaroo Kick

Tackles Talabar In Arena May 3

Lord Blears, who masquerades as a British nobleman, may appear on the street as a languid chap, but in the ring, he is said to be one of the roughest grapplers in the game. He is especially noted for kangaroo-kicking an opponent into defeat. He meets Frank Talabar, Columbus heavyweight, in the feature mat match here next Wednesday night.

The kangaroo kick must be executed in an exact manner or it won't accomplish its purpose. The man who uses it runs toward his opponent, leaps into the air, and propels his feet viciously against an opponent's body.

The kick itself robs the person of his wind and when he falls on the broad of his back, it is certain to be all knocked out of him. The kangaroo kick was taken from the French style of "boxing" in which a person is allowed to use his feet in a fight.

Keeps Femines In Droll
It was a kangaroo kick that caused Lord Blears to defeat the Hooded Terror, one of wrestling's clique.

According to the Houston, Tex., Press, Blears holds the unique record of on three successive nights to have wrestled in Paris, London and New York, the trips being made by airplane.

The Washington Daily News (Roger Treat) writes that "Blears is equipped with all the necessary glamour stuff to keep the feline fans in a constant state of droll."

While Charles Mascall writing in Combat, London, England, says that "Blears fills arenas by his spectacular victories and colorful personality."

The eight event all reverse start program will get underway promptly at 8:30. Gates open at 6:30.

Al Rosen Makes Grade With Indians At Last

By KEN OPSTEIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, April 26.—Al (Flip) Rosen waited for eight years but he waits no more. He has become a major league baseball player the hard way and third base on the Cleveland Indians is now his position to have and to hold.

The 25-year-old athlete from Miami (Fla.) University served a long apprenticeship and endured several disappointments. But all that is in the past.

Rosen does not have to stand in the shadow of Ken Keltner any longer. Cleveland released their star of a dozen seasons and kept Rosen.

Takes Inventory
The Indians' game with the Chicago White Sox was cancelled yesterday because of wet grounds, so Al had a little time to take inventory on just what has happened lately. The confident but yet modest Rosen said:

"I really didn't think I had played well enough this spring to have a chance of being kept with the club instead of Keltner. I had two previous tryouts with the Indians, however, and Cleveland could not option me out again without putting me on the waiver list. So I thought that perhaps some major league team might claim me."

Didn't Sleep Much
Rosen said he was drinking coffee in a restaurant in Topeka, Kan., with teammate Dale Mitchell when the club's publicity man came in with the good news. The former Texas League batting champion said:

"I guess I didn't sleep very much that night. And it wasn't the coffee that kept me awake."

"I was only 17 when I broke into baseball at Thomasville, Ga., in 1942. Even then I thought I would one day become a major leaguer."

HANKS TO WORK OUT
Hank A.C. softball team will hold a practice tonight at the Lehigh field at 6 o'clock.

Always Heavy Hitter
Rosen never hit less than 300 while playing in the minor leagues. He also produced a good number of home runs each season. His best year was 1947 when he hit .349, clouted 25 homers and drove in 141 runs. He was with Oklahoma City at the time and received the Texas League's most valuable player award.

A year ago he was a spring training sensation with a .355 average and stayed with Cleveland until June. Then he was once more sent to the minor leagues. That time it was to San Diego.

NYU Favorite For Carnival

PHILADELPHIA, April 26.—(INS)—New York University was rated the team favorite today in the 56th annual University of Pennsylvania relay carnival on Friday and Saturday at Franklin Field.

NYU drew the critics' nod in the 440-yard and sprint medley relays, mainly because of the Violets' victories in those events in last Saturday's Seton Hall relays.

Little Morgan State college of Baltimore, however, is favored in the mile relay championship won by NYU for three consecutive years. Morgan State negotiated the mile last Saturday in 3:15.3.

Three thousand contestants from 500 schools and colleges will compete in the 85 carnival events.

Mercantile Loop Plans Organization

Plans for a softball Mercantile league in New Castle were discussed last night at the YMCA.

Five teams had representative present and four more signified interest in the organization.

A three-man committee was appointed to meet next Monday night and draw up rules and by-laws to be considered at the next meeting of the league Tuesday, May 2.

Teams represented were B. and O. Jewelers, Court St. Merchants, Post Office, and News. New Castle Store, Sears, Penn Power, and Bell Telephone are prospective candidates for a league franchise.

Castle Hills Ladies League Has Banquet

Castle Hills bowling league wound up its first season of play Tuesday with a banquet.

Mrs. Hazel Ward, chairlady, presented with an award. After the meal cards were played. Prizes went to Kate Wetlich, Corinne Davis, Peg Hunt, Carole Olson and Jed Scheppele.

The group plans to continue the league again next year.

Eagles Tenpin Banquet Tonight

The annual Eagles Club tenpin league bowling banquet will be held at the club dining room at 6:30 o'clock tonight, and a grand time is in store for the bowlers, their wives and sweethearts.

A short speaking program and the passing out of various prize awards will follow the dinner, with dancing the concluding feature. The league enjoyed a wide success the past season at the Castle alleys. The Captains won the league championship, by defeating the Presidents.

'Open House' At Mahoning Club

Open house will be held by members of the Mahoning Sportsmen's club at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, and it is hoped that family groups and as many farmers as possible will attend the meeting.

Motion pictures of a group of New Castle sportsmen seeking fame in British Columbia will be displayed. Earl Jordan, local outdoorsman, will explain the pictures. He was one of the hunters.

Bob Cousy Refuses Tri-Cities Berth

WORCESTER, Mass., April 26.—(INS)—Bob Cousy, all-American basketball player from Holy Cross, said today he will refuse to play for Tri-Cities, the team that drafted him during the National Basketball Association meeting.

Cousy said he would consider playing only for Boston or Syracuse because he intends to go into business in Worcester and does not wish to spend his winters too far away.

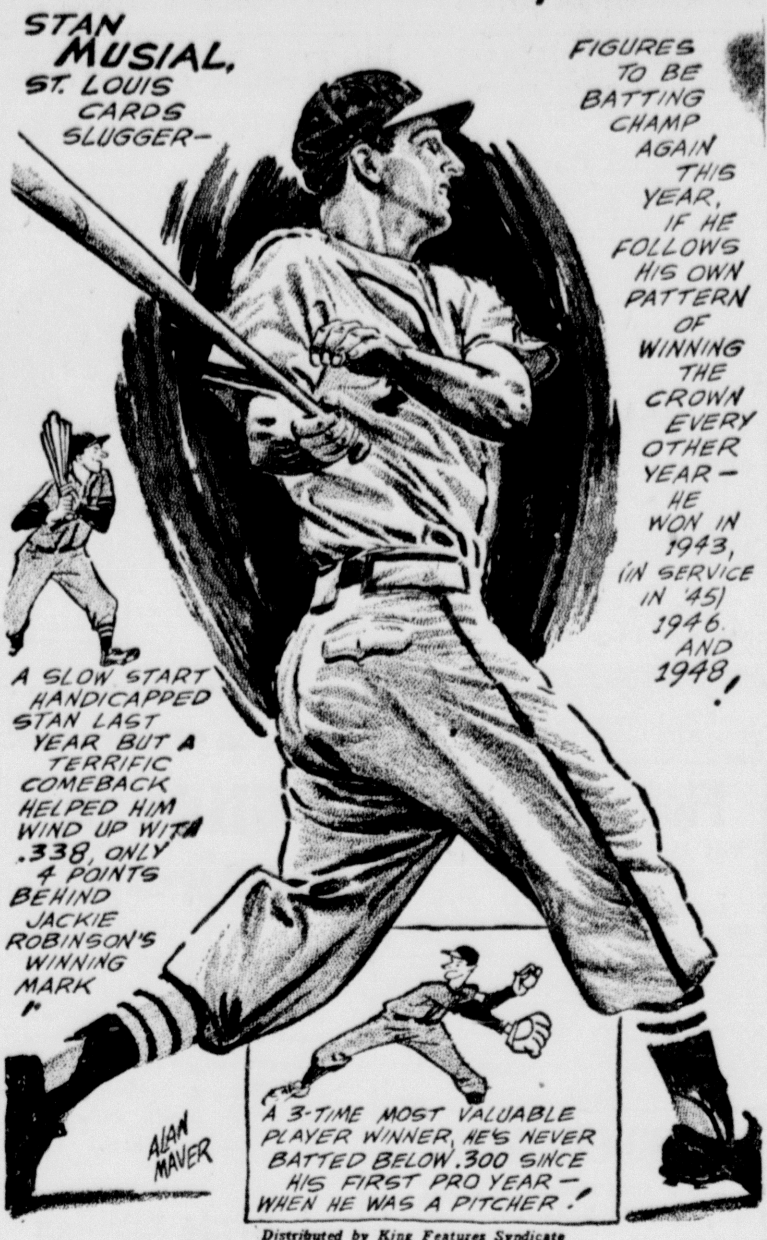

229TH TO PRACTICE

The 229th Field Artillery baseball team in the City league has scheduled three practice sessions for the rest of the week, according to manager Leroy Ross.

The team will drill at George Washington tonight and Friday at 5:30. Thursday's practice is slated for lower Deshon.

An electric eye "mechanical umpire" cannot be used at night.

CARDS' SLUGGING ACE - By Alan Mauer

HERE and THERE IN SPORTS LAND

TRAGEDIES OF THE WILD are occurring throughout the state, and, according to Seth Myers, secretary of the northwest division of the State Federation of Sportsmen's clubs, some of them have taken place in Lawrence county. He writes that: "A friend who is a railroad, telephoned Saturday last to report he had seen a deer along the railroad south of Pulaski, and the animal appeared to be down on its hind quarters. He was considerably upset over the distress of the deer. I thanked him for reporting it and with his description of the locality, promised to investigate the case."

"The next day, a companion and I located three deer in the swampland of the district. One was limping badly but was able to keep going. My companion caught a glimpse of another in some dense swamp brush but try as we did, we could not find it. It was likely the one seen by the man who called me, and probably had gone down for the last time."

"With heavy hearts we finally gave up the search. As we pulled ourselves out of the swamp entanglement, I put it on my memory as just one more 'tragedy of the wild' of which there are so many. The deer was dead."

"During the several hours in the area we could hear reports of small calibre rifles in several directions. It was 22 rifle fire and hardly target practice because the shooters were moving through the countryside."

"On the hillside across the river, I saw some youngsters with rifles, stalking some species of bird or animal. It could have been sheep, as there were some ahead of them along the slope. To reach them would have taken a long time, as I would have to cross a bridge a mile down stream."

"At another place, I saw a boy heading into the woods with a rifle. He was apparently on his own land and there was of course nothing I could do but wonder what he was after on a Sunday afternoon in April."

"The countryside is full of these young fellows toting what their parents think are harmless 'peewee' guns. They promise to shoot only at targets, and of course are taken at their word. "During my many scouting expeditions into the woods, I am caused great concern at seeing so many wild birds and animals crippled. Not long ago I ran across a sheep that had been killed by a 22 in the head."

"Recently, a great white swan was shot through the wing, and while it is able to get around on the water, it will never fly again. This sort of vandalism is going on all around us and when we speak to parents about their boys being allowed with 'toy rifles' they get sore."

"These wicked 'toy rifles' in the hands of boys who have little sense of responsibility is not only a hazard to wildlife, but to live stock and even to human life. Parents who do not believe their boys will shoot at anything but targets, are only kidding themselves and courting trouble. Ask any man who was a boy with a 'peewee' rifle."

Only three Penn State boxers in 27 years won three successive eastern intercollegiate boxing titles. Heavyweight Charles (Chuck) Drzenowich, who accomplished the feat in 1950, is the third.

EAGLES TO PRACTICE

All Eagle football players are asked to report for practice tonight at Dean Park at 5:30. It is announced by Manager Andy Russo. In case of wet grounds there will be a meeting of all players at the Eagles club room at 8 o'clock.

The gyroscope was invented primarily to illustrate the allied dynamics of rotating bodies. It was first called the rotoscope.

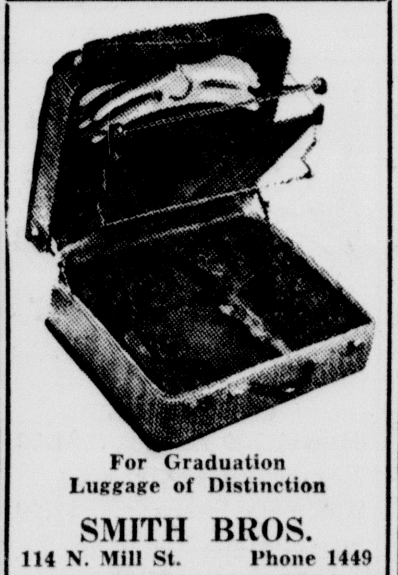

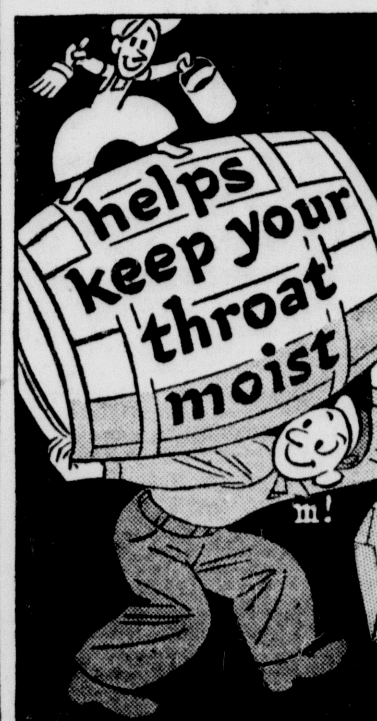

There were approximately 1-100,000 non-fatal injuries derived from automobile accidents in the United States in 1948.

Out of 67,776 causes of 1948-49 fires reported to the Forest Service, 20,047 were ascribed to incense-burners.
